

China-Bandar Abbas-Afghanistan Freight

Economy sea-and-road route for heavy and bulky cargo

LOWEST ENTRY

Use the least-cost suitable route or service after comparing live all-in quotations. Consolidate cargo, prepare correct documents before dispatch, avoid optional services, and keep a small contingency only.

Service Scope & Suitable Cargo

Sea freight from China to Bandar Abbas followed by road transport through Iran and an appropriate Afghan border crossing. This is often a strong economy option for bulky, heavy and nonurgent industrial cargo.

Best suited to

- Full-container machinery shipments
- Raw materials and heavy packaged goods
- Cargo where lowest delivered cost matters most
- Western, central or southern Afghan destinations after route comparison

Minimum document set

- Commercial invoice and packing list
- Bill of lading instructions
- HS codes and certificate documents
- Iran transit documents
- Afghan customs and consignee documents

Transit routes, border procedures, fuel surcharges, carrier availability and insurance terms can change. Sanaatchi should obtain a live written quotation before the client commits to the shipment.

Indicative Investment & Implementation Plan

Cost component	Lowest-entry instruction
Origin handling	Use supplier delivery to the nearest economical consolidation point
Main transport	Compare at least three live all-in offers on identical cargo data
Transit/border	Include mandatory charges; exclude optional handling and storage
Afghan clearance	Prepare correct HS code and documents before arrival
Final delivery	Combine delivery and unloading where safe and practical
Insurance	Select minimum appropriate cover based on actual cargo risk
Contingency	Keep a small 3-5% reserve; do not inflate the client-facing budget
Low-entry total	Use the lowest verified delivered quotation—not a stale website rate

Implementation

- Submit exact weights, dimensions, value, packing and destination.
- Check permits, restrictions, HS code and document requirements.
- Request comparable live quotations and confirm exclusions.
- Approve route, insurance, pickup plan and payment terms.
- Track handovers, retain condition photographs and close delivery records.

Lowest-Quote Request Checklist

- Number and type of packages or containers
- Gross weight and dimensions of every package
- Cargo value, condition and sensitivity
- Loading equipment required at origin and destination
- Customs responsibility, duties and taxes
- All surcharges, waiting time, storage and demurrage exclusions
- Quotation validity, estimated transit and payment terms
